The UnChoice (thē un'-chois) noun.

- 1) A coerced, deceptively sold, insufficiently informed, unwanted or even forced non-choice that endangers women and teens and inflicts untold heartbreak for everyone involved.
- 2) An epidemic of disinformation and unwanted, coerced (directly or indirectly) or even forced abortion in America and elsewhere.
- 3) An injustice, often presented as a right, privilege or mandate, and imposed on teens, women and families when they most need full disclosure, realistic alternatives, honest answers and real help.
- 4) A phenomenon that increases the risk of personal and/or expert coercion of pregnant teens and women, including violence that can escalate to homicide—the leading killer of pregnant women.
- 5) A painful, high-risk, often-traumatizing experience that can lead to serious physical and psychological complications for teens and women, including a higher risk of death.
- 6) An injustice that often involves professional negligence or malpractice by healthcare, education, social services, counseling and other professions, and workplace, housing and other discrimination. This is frequently further aggravated by those who dismiss or deny post-abortion grief over countless injustices, including the loss of authentic choice and above all, the death of a child.
- 7) A journey beyond which there can be hope and healing with the compassion of people who care, the guidance of other women and men who've been there, and experts who understand.
- 8) Unwanted. Unsafe. Unfair.
